Brief Overview of the Program

The Human Sciences International Undergraduate Degree Program sets out to cultivate self-motivated, reflective students who have a sophisticated knowledge base and the necessary practical skills to meet the challenges that they will face in our fast-changing, globalized world. The program aims to give students a well-defined area of disciplinary expertise that can be applied in different settings to bring workable solutions to a variety of problems and issues. This exciting and innovative program was launched in October 2011 by the School of Human Sciences in collaboration with other schools, graduate schools, and research centers at Osaka University. We aim to provide a vibrant and multicultural learning environment for students. In addition to providing an English-medium teaching and learning environment, we also expect students to gain proficiency in the Japanese language. There are curricular, co-curricular, and extra-curricular opportunities to learn the language and interact with regular, Japanese language-medium program students, domestic and international.

We introduced a new structure to our program in the autumn of 2019. After taking shared foundation courses in the first three semesters, from the fourth semester students will begin to take advanced courses. At that time, we will invite students to choose one of three areas to focus their studies: Diversity and Inclusion Studies, Japan Studies or Political and Global Studies. They will take advanced level courses to build their expertise in one of these areas of concentration and also focus their undergraduate dissertation in a related area of research. Please note that regardless of the area chosen, the degree awarded at graduation is a Bachelor of Human Sciences.

· Diversity and Inclusion Studies

This focus asks students to address issues of equality, participation and inclusion for people who are very differently located in society. Students will be expected to explore the question of what systems methodologies and practices are needed to create greater equality, participation, and inclusion across diverse settings such as education, health, and business. Examples of courses include: Human Rights; Health, Education and Inequality; Civil Society Movements; Sociology of Migration; and Gender and Development. Students focusing on Diversity and Inclusion Studies will gain skills and knowledge that will provide a good foundation for further study leading to a future career working in international organizations such as UNESCO, non-profit organizations, charities and corporate social responsibility sections, and human resource management in companies. This concentration will link directly with the activities of the UNESCO Chair in Global Health and Education established at Osaka University.

· Japan Studies

Economically, technologically, and culturally, Japan has a major impact on global society. Healthy living and a universal system of health care have helped Japan achieve the longest life expectancy in the world, yet this has come hand-in-hand with the challenge of hyper-ageing. In a society that has 'too-few-children', demographics and how to better balance work and family life are major issues. The Japan Studies focus invites students to study Japan from a number of angles, including its culture, social systems, and institutions, as well as its global influence. Examples of courses include: Contemporary Educational Issues in Japan, Social Stratification in Japan, Religion in Japanese Society, Popular Culture, and Japanese Law. Students who take this concentration will be well positioned to seek employment in Japanese organizations and Japan-related fields overseas.

· Political and Global Studies

Knowledge of politics and international relations is more important than ever in today's interconnected world. The Political and Global Studies concentration offers students a rigorous selection of courses covering domestic politics, international relations, and political economy. Examples of courses include Peace and Conflict Studies, East Asian Politics, Globalization, as well as courses on Japanese politics. Students will synthesize the knowledge they gain from advanced study into writing their 4th year undergraduate thesis. Overall, the Political and Global Studies concentration offers students a range of knowledge, training, and critical thinking skills appropriate for a politically or internationally focused career.

Admission Policy

Osaka University welcomes applications from suitably qualified international students and domestic students with an international education background. The University recognizes the great academic and cultural value of having a diverse student body studying together in a community of learning. Osaka University is one of the leading teaching and research universities in Japan, and it continues to attract highly talented applicants. This program allows for intensive study in relatively small groups.

The eligibility requirements described below reflect the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science, and Technology's (MEXT) minimum level of qualifications and criteria for submitting an application. Successful applicants will have an excellent academic record that shows they are highly motivated and engaged in learning. They will also be outstanding members of their school community and have a record of service. Given these expectations, we will be screening applicants not only on the basis of evidence of academic ability (GPA and exam scores etc.), but on their whole application. In other words, we consider each applicant holistically using all the information that is submitted to us.

Duration of Program (2023 cohort)

October 1, 2023 to September 30, 2027 (4 years) *

*For students who meet required academic criteria, accelerated graduation after 3.5 years is possible.

Student Intake

This program currently enrolls only a small number of students. This allows for intensive study and supervision.

Checking Eligibility to Apply

Due to Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science, and Technology (MEXT) requirements, to be eligible to apply for this program you must be one of the following types of student by September 30, 2023.

Criteria 1: An International applicant (defined here as a student applying from outside of Japan) who has completed a standard 12-year school education curriculum (primary, lower and upper secondary) in a country other than Japan. Including here, is an applicant who has completed a standard 12-year school education curriculum in a country outside Japan in less than 12 years as a result of being promoted up a grade ahead of his or her peers.

Criteria 2: An international applicant who is at least 18 years of age and who, while not completing all twelve years of their education in that particular country, has passed upper secondary school level examinations and therefore is considered to have reached the same academic level as a student who has completed the standard 12-year school education curriculum of that country and therefore is eligible to apply for university in that country.

Criteria 3: An international applicant who has completed primary and secondary school education in line with the stipulations of that country or passed upper secondary school level examinations and therefore considered to have reached the same academic level as a student who has completed the standard primary and secondary school education curriculum of that country. However, because the qualification is not considered equivalent to a full 12 years in the Japanese system, applicants need to have completed a pre-university preparatory education course required for admission to Japanese universities as designated by MEXT.

Criteria 4: An international applicant who has completed a curriculum in a school that is considered to be the equivalent of high school (upper secondary) level and met the requirements stipulated by MEXT. The applicant should have completed at least 11 years of education in a country outside Japan at institution(s) that meet standards laid down by MEXT.

Criteria 5: A Japan-based applicant who has completed a program of study in Japan at an educational institution offering the national curriculum of a foreign country, and this curriculum would be considered to be equivalent to completion of a standard 12-year school curriculum under the rules of that country's school education system. In other words, they would be eligible to apply to a university in that country as a result of completing said curriculum.

Criteria 6: A Japan-based applicant who has completed a program of study at an educational institution offering the national curriculum of a foreign country and who would be considered to have reached the same academic level as a student who has completed the standard 12-year school education curriculum of that country and therefore eligible to apply for university in that country and, in addition to this, has completed a pre-university preparatory education course required for admission to Japanese universities as designated by MEXT.

Criteria 7: An applicant who has obtained the International Baccalaureate Diploma awarded by the International Baccalaureate Organization.

Criteria 8: An applicant who has obtained the Abitur issued by the Federal Republic of Germany for college entrance.

Criteria 9: An applicant who has obtained the Baccalaureate Diploma issued by the French Republic for college entrance.

Criteria 10: An applicant who has obtained the General Certificate of Advanced Level accredited as a qualification for admission to a university in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

Criteria 11: An applicant who has completed the standard 12-year school curriculum at an accredited international school in Japan designated by MEXT. Recognized international accrediting agencies include WASC, ACSI, and CIS.

NOTE:

• If you have completed your studies at a non-accredited international school in Japan or you are unsure whether you are eligible to apply, please contact the HUS International Program Office as early as possible before applying.

Alternatively, applicants can prove English proficiency through demonstrable academic experience in an English-speaking environment. We take the following as proof of English proficiency although additional documentation may be required:

- 1. Applicant has recently undertaken upper secondary (high school) study where a wide range of courses have been undertaken and assessed in English and the student has received at least passing grades.
- Applicant has recently undertaken undergraduate level study at a university in which core courses have been undertaken and assessed in English and the student has received at least passing grades.
- 3. Applicant has recently undertaken employment that has required English speaking, reading and writing for a period of not less than 24 months.

4) Results of standardized tests for university admission

Submit official scores of any standardized academic test for university entrance that you have taken. See the Appendix for details.

5) Personal statement (respond to both parts 1 and 2)

★Please submit the personal statement to englishprogram@hus.osaka-u.ac.jp by email

Your email subject line should communicate exactly what the email is about so that the Office can prioritize the email's importance without having to open it. For this purpose, on the email subject line, please write: [Application Registration Number] Personal Statement

Personal Statement: Provide a response to the following two tasks.

- 1) In concrete terms, tell us what attracts you to our International Human Science Program and your expectations about how you would use the knowledge, skills and experiences gained from our program in your future life (approx. 700 words)
- 2) The global community is focused on achieving the 17 Sustainable Development Goals by 2030. https://www.un.org/sustainabledevelopment/sustainable-development-goals/. We all have to play a part. Tell us which goals from the list are particularly important to you, and why you chose them. Share with us your ideas on how you see yourself contributing to meeting these goals now and in the future. (approx. 700 words)

NOTES:

- Please word-process using double spacing and a 12-point font. Send the personal statement with the application form and supplementary documentation.
- Format: MS Word (dox and docx), Rich Text Format (RTF), Plain text (txt), PDF, Pages
- Please ensure to include your name and the title of your essay on each page in the header.

6) Recommendation letters

We require that you submit a recommendation letter from two recommenders (teachers, career counsellors, or the headteacher.). Each recommender should complete a recommendation letter and a Recommendation Cover Sheet. The Recommendation Cover Sheet is available on our website (https://iudp.hus.osaka-u.ac.jp/admissions/). To facilitate the process, write down your name, date of birth, and graduation date on it and provide it to your recommenders. Please ask each recommender to place their Recommendation Cover Sheet with their letter of recommendation in an envelope, seal it, sign it across the seal and return it to you. Please do not open the sealed envelopes, as doing so will make your documents invalid. Include the two sealed envelopes along with other required application documents in your application packet.

7) Passport

Submit a copy of your passport. If you have two or more citizenships, please submit copies of all of them. If you have a Japan residence card (在留力一片), please submit a copy of it as well. If you do not have a valid passport, submit a photocopy of another official certificate of your country, such as a birth certificate or an official registry.

8) Payment certificate of application fee

Include a copy of the Transaction Confirmation or remittance receipt in your application packet.

Application Fee and Method of Payment

1) Application Fee: 17,000 JPY

The Screening Process

We aim to gain a clear view of the applicant's academic achievement and potential, as well as their motivations and fit for the program. In this process, we may need additional information or to clarify certain points. In such a case, we will invite an applicant for an interview face-to-face at Osaka University or via an internet conferencing system.

The result of the screening (and the interview for interviewed applicants) will be announced by late March.

Successful applicants who have academic qualification in progress (e.g. IB and A-levels) and received a conditional letter of acceptance must submit the examination results as soon as they are available. Failure to meet any condition may affect your admission status.

Expenses Involved in Enrollment and Study

Unless students receive economic support (see below), in most cases, successful applicants will need to bear the following expenses relating to enrollment and study: enrollment fee, tuition, travel costs, accommodation (rent and utilities), daily living expenses, national health insurance costs and miscellaneous expenses. To hold your place at Osaka University, a successful applicant must pay an enrollment fee in June. See the Osaka University website and the JASSO website for further details.

Economic Support

We expect a number of competitive scholarship opportunities to become available for international students both before and after enrollment. These are usually offered on the basis of academic performance to date. Students can also apply for tuition waivers after joining the program. Students may become eligible for additional sources of support after enrolling in the program.

Accommodation Support

Students in this program are given priority for places in the university dormitory for the first year. These accommodation expenses, while heavily subsidized, have to be covered by the student.

Handling of Personal Information

Personal information, such as names and addresses, provided in the application form and submission documents, will only be used in the selection process or for evaluation of this process.

APPENDIX International and National Qualifications and Test Scores for University Admission

Instructions for students who will be taking international or national academic qualifications that will not be available until after the January 13, 2023 application deadline:

Where predicted scores are available (these are official predictions of subject and final scores put together by your school) these should be sent on to us in a sealed envelope.

Where possible, arrange for final results to be sent through from the examination center. Alternatively, submit a transcript of your score(s) when it (they) become(s) available.
